Voices Beyond Bars: The mission of Voices Beyond Bars is to reduce recidivism by supporting one another through adversaries of reentry and transition; raise awareness on the current injustices still transpiring with the penal "system"; to be advocates for social issues related, but not limited to incarceration and reentry; and creating a forum for all to work together in healing communities both inside and out.

About the Book (available now from PM Press)

A nice Jewish boy from suburban Boston—David Gilbert arrived at Columbia University just in time for the explosive Sixties. From the early anti-Vietnam War protests to the founding of SDS, from the Columbia Strike to the tragedy of the Townhouse, Gilbert was on the scene: as organizer, theoretician, and above all, activist. He was among the first militants who went underground to build the clandestine resistance to war and racism known as “Weatherman.” And he was among the last to emerge, in captivity, after the disaster of the 1981 Brinks robbery, an attempted expropriation that resulted in four deaths and long prison terms. In this extraordinary memoir, written from the maximum-security prison where he has lived for almost thirty years, David Gilbert tells the intensely personal story of his own Long March from liberal to radical to revolutionary. He is now a mentor to many activists and organizers working for racial, social and economic justice.
